

MAJOR RETAIL CHAIN: ENTERPRISE APPS PORTAL IMPLEMENTATION

SUMMARY

ENTERPRISE MANAGEMENT APPS PORTAL IMPLEMENTATION AT A MAJOR RETAIL CHAIN (3,000+ STORES)

Our client, a national retailer with 3,000+ stores was looking to build an internal Enterprise Management Apps Portal to allow their customer service team, accounting, fulfillment, and other departments to perform various back office operations from handling returned checks to inventory charge-off to temporary co-worker assignment to business exceptions/metrics and more. They wanted to leverage Liferay as the application development platform but use a Single Page App architecture to build these applications. XTIVIA was able to quickly design and implement an XSF-based solution to support an AngularJS implementation that used OOTB Angular facilities for Ajax/REST communications. This architectural approach resulted in the ability to clearly separate the UI from services integration from the developer perspective, and the ability to deliver modern, dynamic, and responsive apps from an end-user perspective.
